

Privacy Policy for QSR Automations, Inc.

(As of: May 24, 2018)

This Privacy Policy describes our practices concerning the information collected through this website, ConnectSmart® Kitchen, TeamAssist®, ControlPoint, DineTime® Host, the DineTime® App or any of our related applications, through our other websites and through the services provided to you as an individual (an “individual user”) using our App to make reservations or obtain other services or provided to your restaurant (a “restaurant user”) using DineTime Host for restaurant management services (collectively, the “Services”). The terms “our”, “we”, “ConnectSmart”, “TeamAssist” and “DineTime” all refer to QSR Automations, Inc., which is the company providing the Services.

Below we describe what information we collect when you use the Services, how we protect that information, with whom we share it, and what your privacy options are. This Privacy Policy only applies to the websites, apps and services that we own and operate. Our websites and apps may provide links to third party websites. This Privacy Policy will not apply to any information you may provide while on such third party websites. We will continue to evaluate this Privacy Policy against new technologies, business practices, and our users' needs, and we may make changes to the Privacy Policy accordingly. Please check this page periodically for updates. If we make any material changes to this Privacy Policy, we will post the updated Privacy Policy here, along with its effective date, and notify you by means of a notice on our website.

The Information We Collect

We explain the two ways that we collect and process information about individual users and restaurant users. These two methods of collection include when you provide us information, and when we gather information you provide indirectly while using our Services.

1. Information You Provide to Us

Individual User - Account Information: In order to use our consumer application, you must create an account and provide us with certain information. If you create an account, we may store information such as your:

- full name
- email address
- phone number
- birth date

Restaurant User - Account Information: When you create a restaurant account we collect the following information:

- restaurant name
- location
- address
- phone number
- contact person information, including full name, phone number and email address; and credit card information, only in the event that the restaurant is on credit card terms

If any portion of the account information listed above is not provided, a restaurant account cannot be created.

Public Content: When you post social media content (such as ratings, reviews, tips, photos, comments, likes, bookmarks, friends, lists) through our Services we may collect some of the information you publicly posted during that process.

Contacts: When you invite your friends to join and use DineTime and the Services, we may collect their contact information.

Communications: When you participate in a survey, poll, promotion, contest, or sweepstakes; submit a customer service or other inquiry to us; request to receive certain communications from us; we may collect contact information such as your name, address, email address, or telephone number as a result of your participation.

2. Information We Collect When You Use the Services

When an individual user uses the Services, we automatically collect and store certain information, including:

1. IP address of your computer
2. Unique mobile device identifier

3. Technical information about your computer or mobile device such as type of device, mobile device ID number, web browser (Internet Explorer 8, etc.), other browser information (e.g. size, connection speed and connection type), and operating system or platform (Mac, Windows XP, etc.)
4. Your preferences and settings (time zone, language, etc.)
5. If you are using a mobile device, your mobile device's geographic location (specific geographic location if you've enabled collection of that information, or general geographic location automatically). Please see the section "How to Disable the Collection of Mobile Device Location Information" below for further information.
6. Internet provider (Verizon, Comcast, etc.) or mobile carrier name (AT&T, Sprint, T-Mobile, etc.)
7. The URL of the last webpage you visited before visiting DineTime
8. Information about your activity on the Services (e.g., your search queries, comments, search results selected, clicks, pages viewed, how long you visited our Services, etc.)
9. Communications between you and other users or merchants through our Services.
10. For mobile application users, the online or offline status of your application.

When a restaurant user uses the Services, we automatically collect and store all of the information noted above. Also, we will have all the information that you submit or provide with respect to your restaurant and customers through your account with us or through your other communications with DineTime Host or DineTime, such as notifications to a party, seatings of a party, messaging activity, restaurant layout, etc. ("Transactional Data").

Mobile Device Location Information. When an individual user uses one of our location-enabled services (for example, when you access Services from a mobile device), we may need to collect and process information about the user's actual GPS location (including the latitude, longitude or altitude of the user's mobile device) and the time the location information was recorded. Some of these services require your personal data for the feature to work and we may associate location data with your device ID and other information we hold about you. If you do not want your location information collected when you use the Services from a mobile device, you should contact your device manufacturer or platform provider to determine how to disable the collection of this information.

Cookies, Mobile Device IDs and Online Advertising:

Cookies: We, and third parties with whom we partner, may use cookies, pixel tags, web beacons, mobile device IDs, "flash cookies" and similar files or technologies to collect and store information with respect to your use of the Services and third party websites. A cookie is a small text file that is stored on your computer or mobile device that enables us to recognize you (for example, as a registered user) when you visit our website, store your preferences and settings, enhance your experience by delivering content specific to your interests, perform research and analytics, track your use of our Services, and assist with security and administrative functions. Cookies may be persistent or stored only during an individual session.

A pixel tag (also called a web beacon or clear GIF) is a tiny graphic with a unique identifier, embedded invisibly on a webpage (or an online ad or email), and is used to count or track things like activity on a webpage or ad impressions or clicks, as well as to access cookies stored on users' computers. DineTime pixel tags are used to measure the popularity of our various pages, features and services. Advertising company pixel tags are used to measure the number of ad impressions and the performance of ads on our site, and to access the advertising company's cookies placed on your computer. Data analytics company pixel tags are used to aggregate information about our advertising and your engagement with our site for market research, product improvement, revenue tracking and advertising optimization. Third parties whose products or services are accessible or advertised through the Services, including social networking services, may also use cookies or similar tools, and we advise you to check their privacy policies for information about their cookies and other practices.

Online and Mobile Advertising: We may allow third parties to use Cookies on the Services to collect the same type of information for the same purposes as DineTime does for itself. Advertisers and advertising networks may place ads on our website and mobile applications. These companies as well as data analytics companies who service them may collect information, such as your computer's IP address, browser information, mobile device ID, and search queries, as you use our Services. These companies also may use cookies and pixel tags to collect data about you when you visit our site. Cookies from advertising companies enable them to track your activity across various sites where they display ads and record and associate your activities, so they can show ads that they consider relevant to you. We do not, as a matter of course, have access to, or control over the Cookies these third parties use, but you may be able to opt-out of some of their practices by visiting the links listed below. Please note however that opting out will not stop the display of advertisements to you. These companies do not have access to any Transactional Data.

We currently use the following cookies:

Google: Our public facing website uses Google Analytics Demographics and Interest Reporting, which uses cookies to help us to track which pages are accessed. This allows us to understand how popular our site is and record visitor trends over time. The cookies contain no personally identifiable information but some of them do use your IP address to help determine where in the world you are accessing the site from and to track pages you visit within the site. You may opt out at <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout>

AdRoll: Our public facing website uses AdRoll cookies to provide targeting advertising content based on your browsing choices. If you do not wish to receive this type of tailored advertising, you can visit <https://www.networkadvertising.org/choices/> to opt out of most online ad networks that use such advertising, including AdRoll.

HubSpot: Our public facing website uses HubSpot cookies to manage, provide, and enhance your web experience. To opt out of this type of tracking, you can use a private browser like Chrome's Incognito Mode or Firefox's Private Browsing feature. You can also utilize a browser add-on like Ghostery or BetterPrivacy.

Opting out of targeted advertising and marketing will not prevent you from seeing ads entirely, but the ads will no longer be delivered to you via targeting methods. You can also control the receipt of Cookies through your browser's settings. Please note that some of our services may not function properly if Cookies are disabled.

If you are using a DineTime mobile application, we use your unique mobile device ID number to recognize you when you use the application, to store your preferences and settings and to track your use of our Services. Advertising companies may also use and store your mobile device ID to track your use of the Services, track the number of ads displayed, measure ad performance and show ads that they consider relevant to you in various mobile services that you use. If you are using an iOS device and you do not want to receive tailored in-application ads that relate to your interests, you may opt-out by accessing the following link on your device: <https://support.apple.com/en-us/HT202074>. If you are using an Android device and you do not wish to receive tailored in-application ads, you can visit Google's Ads Preferences page from a browser on your device and make your choices there. We do not control how the applicable platform operator allows you to control receiving tailored in-application ads; thus, you should contact the platform provider if the above options are no longer available

How We May Use the Information We Collect

We may use the information we collect from and about you for a variety of purposes, including to:

- Provide individual users our DineTime mobile reservation services and allow for direct communication between an individual user and a restaurant.
- Provide restaurant users the various services we offer through DineTime Host.
- Respond to your queries.
- Understand our users (their demographics, what they do on our Services, what features they like, how they use them, etc.), improve our Services, such as by personalizing content to your interests, process and complete your transactions, and make special offers.
- Administer our Services and diagnose technical problems.
- Send you communications that you have requested or that may be of interest to you. When you sign up for an account, you are opting in to receive emails and texts from other DineTime users, businesses, and DineTime itself. You cannot opt out of receiving certain administrative or legal notices from DineTime. If you exchange messages with others through the Services, we may store them to process and deliver them, allow you to manage them, and investigate possible wrongdoing in connection with the Services. If you send information from the Services to your phone via SMS text message, we may log your phone number, phone carrier, and the date and time that the message was processed. Carriers may charge recipients for texts that they receive.
- Send you questions from other users that you may be able to answer if you have registered with DineTime.
- Enable us to show you ads on our website and in our mobile applications that are more relevant to you.
- Collect payment from restaurant users if any payment is due under the then in effect payment schedule.

How We May Share the Information We Collect

We will not share the personal information we collect about you with any third party for its own marketing purposes without your consent. We will share your information in the following ways:

- We use outside vendors for a variety of purposes, such as to send you emails and messages on behalf of DineTime, other DineTime users, or advertisers; push notifications to your mobile device on our behalf; help us analyze use of our Services; and to process and collect payments. Some of our products, services and databases may be hosted by third party hosting services providers. We also may use vendors for other projects, such as conducting surveys or organizing sweepstakes for us, that involve collection of information from our users. We may share information about you with these vendors to enable them to perform their services.

- We may disclose data we collect about you when we believe disclosure is necessary to investigate, prevent, or respond to suspected illegal or fraudulent activity or to protect the safety, rights, or property of us, our users, or others.
- If requested or required by government authorities, such as law enforcement authorities, courts, or regulators, or otherwise to comply with the law, we may disclose any information we have about our users. We also may disclose information collected about you in order to exercise or protect legal rights or defend against legal claims.
- We may transfer your information to a third party if we or any of our affiliates are involved in a corporate restructuring (including, a sale, merger, or other transfer of some or all of our assets).
- Advertisers and advertising networks place ads (including sponsored links in search results) on our site and in our mobile applications. These companies may collect information, such as your computer's IP address, browser information, mobile device ID, and search queries, as you use our website and Services. They also may use cookies and other technologies to collect this information when you visit our site. These companies will use this information in connection with their advertising to you.
- We may use, publish, share and disclose non-personal information (e.g., de-identified or aggregate data or statistics) to third parties.
- We may use a third-party intermediary to manage credit card processing. Such intermediary is contractually permitted to use your payment information solely to effect payment and for billing for the Services and any other purchases you may make through DineTime Host or our websites. You can always edit the information associated with your account using your log-in on <https://portal.qsr.cloud/admin> or if you believe that an unauthorized account has been created, you can request its removal by emailing support@qsrautomations.com.

Reviewing, changing or deleting information

QSR works diligently to keep your personal data up to date and accurate. You have the following rights with respect to the personal data we hold about you:

- The right to know what data we hold about you: If you would like to know what personal data we hold about you, please contact us by using the contact information provided below at the end of this Privacy Policy. We seek to swiftly respond to your inquiry.
- The right to have incomplete, incorrect, outdated, or unnecessary personal data corrected, deleted or updated. If you wish to make use of your rights stated above, or if you have additional questions regarding the correction, deletion or updating of the personal data we hold about you, please contact us by using the contact information provided below at the end of this Privacy Policy.
- The right to request QSR to restrict processing of your data.

How Long We Keep Your Information

We retain the information we collect about and from you for as long as necessary to fulfill a business purpose or comply with a legal request. We may also choose to anonymize certain of the information you provide to us so that it can no longer be attributed to you if we would like to retain it for longer periods of time.

Security

QSR Automations takes the security of your personal information very seriously. We have implemented commercially reasonable security measures that are designed to prevent unauthorized or unlawful access to and misuse of the information we collect, including technological and physical security measures as well as procedural safeguards. However, because no security system can be 100% effective, and we cannot completely guarantee the security of any information we may have collected from or about you.

Users Under 18

The Services are not intended for users under the age of 18. We do not knowingly collect any personal information from individuals under 18 or market to or solicit information from anyone under the age of 18. If we become aware that a person submitting personal information is under 18, we will attempt to delete the account and any related information as soon as possible. You hereby represent that you are at least 18.
